

MM101 Vocation, Work and Ministry: Theology of Work

Mr Michael Low | 1.5 CR

About the Course

This course aims to help students answer some key questions:

1. What is God doing in the world?
2. How do we, as the people of God, fit into His plan, and how does our daily work matter to the Kingdom?
3. How am I to steward all of who I am, and how can I live it out practically in every area of my life?

Through lectures and interviews, small group interaction and personal reflection, this course will help the participant better understand the context of God's design for us, the Bible's teaching on work and vocation, so that they can learn to see seamlessly between our daily work and the other areas of our lives.

About the Lecturer

Mr Michael Low, a recent graduate of Regent College (MA Theo Studies '18), started his professional life as a litigation lawyer. He then moved on to banking where he spent over 10 years with several international private banks, his last role being the Asia Head of Fiduciary Services for a boutique Swiss private bank. Michael now works in fund-raising for reSource Leadership International, a Christian not-for-profit, as the Advancement Consultant based in Singapore. He is also exploring ways to connect with the marketplace, where his passion lies.

Course Objectives

1. To help students understand what work and vocation means in the context of Scripture, from Genesis to Revelation.
2. To help students aspire to a biblical understanding of the mission God has for the people of God, and to discover their part in that mission.
3. To help students come to an understanding of how they are can live faithfully as stewards of all they have and are.
4. To attempt to help students learn to see seamlessly between their faith, work and all of life.
